05 January 2006

Government responses in red.

1. Does a Bidders list exist for this RFP?

A bidder's list does not exist for this RFP.

2. What is to be submitted on January 18, 2006, We assume the Government is looking for responses to the 3 criterion described, but is the proposal summary form also to be completed? If so, how is the "proposed prices" table to be filled out?

Responses to the three criterion need to be submitted on January 18, 2006. The responses should not exceed 10 pages per response to each of the three criterion. This is a multi-step solicitation. At this time, prices are not to be submitted. Upon review and evaluation of proposals submitted during this phase, you will receive an advisory notification as to whether or not you are considered a viable competitor. This is an advisory notification and you may elect to continue into the next step of the acquisition.

3. Who are the incumbents currently performing the work?

Currently, three vendors support the work at the USA REF as incumbents,

Reger Enterprises, Inc.

4. The SOW (paragraph C.1.9) references exhibit B-Performance Requirements Summary. Where can this be found?

This is not relevant to the phase I proposal submission.

5. Paragraph C.6.1.1 the very last sentence is not a sentence and appears to be the next labor category. Please clarify.

This is a typo and should be disregarded.

6. Is the project considered a new requirement?

The services are “follow-on” services in support of the U.S. Army REF, however the contract will be a new contract issued through competition. This requirement is a 100% Service Disabled Veteran-Owned Small Business set-aside.

7. It appears that there are approximately 100 people currently assigned to this contract. What happens to these people when the contract is awarded to a new contractor? Will the contractor be required to offer these people employment? What is the contract vision for the current employees?

No, the new contractor is not obligated to offer employment to existing employees. There will be approximately a thirty (30) day phase-in period for the new contractor to become accustomed to the environment and make appropriate personnel decisions.

8. What are the payment terms for this contract? Bi-weekly? Monthly? Quarterly?

Payments are made monthly for services performed.

9. We are requesting a list of all interested large business concerns that may have applied for information on this RFP.

No large businesses have applied for information on this RFP.

Notes:

A. The contract will include award fee provision, however the terms and conditions of earning fee is under consideration.

B. Please continue to periodically check the solicitation webpage located at http://www.wsmr.army.mil/docpage/pages/sol_stat.htm. Changes and information will be posted to this webpage.
